Precautionary boil water advisory issued after water main break on Tocobaga Lane in Nokomis

A precautionary boil water advisory has been issued after repairs to a water main break in the 2000 block of Tocobaga Lane in Nokomis. The break, which occurred Friday morning, Feb. 19, interrupted service to approximately 16 Sarasota County Utilities customers.

Sarasota County is notifying affected residents in the area of the precautionary boil water advisory.

While the county has no reason to believe the drinking water was contaminated, Florida law requires that drinking water providers issue precautionary boil water advisories to customers affected by pressure losses in water mains.

While the advisory is in effect, the county advises affected customers to boil all tap water intended for drinking, preparation of food, washing of food utensils, making ice, brushing teeth or for first aid, making sure the water is brought to a rolling boil for one minute. Boiling the tap water disinfects it, destroying any harmful microorganisms. Bottled water can be used as an alternative to boiling the tap water.

Over the next few days, the county will collect a series of samples in the affected area and analyze them to ensure the drinking water wasn't contaminated by potentially harmful bacteria during the service interruption. Customers will be notified by another automated telephone call that the boil water advisory has been cancelled.
