Elvis is coming to the building in Venice

He thrilled millions of people around the world and changed rock and roll forever. Now the most realistic tribute to Elvis is coming for one show only at 7 p.m., Saturday, March 13, at the Venice Community Center, 326 S. Nokomis Ave., Venice.

Dwight Icenhower, considered one of the best tribute artists in the country, will take the stage to perform as Elvis. Recognized for his striking resemblance to the king and his nearly perfect voice impersonation, Icenhower has entertained audiences across the country, using his talent to keep the memory of Elvis alive.

Icenhower has mastered his tribute to Elvis to match the king of the 1950s, 1960s, and 1970s so much that he has won a myriad of Elvis awards. His shows are so authentic that personal friends of Elvis including DJ Fontana, The Jordanares, The Sweet Inspirations, Cynthia Pepper, Julie Parrish, Charlotte Hodge and Joe Esposito have joined him on stage.

A limited number of tickets are still available at the Venice Community Center Box Office.
